Don't write your speech in your head any more. Test it out on your way to work, with your kids, in the car, or while waiting for your bus. Start and stop the timer with a big red button or by right clicking anywhere on the desktop. Get automatic feedback on what you say, and be ready to make the adjustments before the time is up. Speech Timer Free For Windows 10 Crack Screenshots: 7 Reasons Why You Should Learn Foreign Language Language learning is essential for any individuals that want to pursue a global career, especially nowadays when it's necessary to be a global citizen. People may work in diverse places around the globe, so it's important to be able to get along with different cultures and communicate effectively. Speaking of languages, if you are thinking of learning one, choosing the one that will be the most helpful is the first step. It's better to learn a language that is widely spoken and in demand, rather than an obscure language that's not spoken anywhere. If you want to learn Spanish, you can't just study English. You must also study Spanish. Here are some reasons why you should learn foreign languages: 1. It'll Improve Your Career It's estimated that more than 80 percent of the world's Fortune 500 companies have at least one language that they employ in their workforce. In fact, multinational corporations have posted job openings for language speakers in countries such as the United States, China, India, Mexico and South Korea. Learning a foreign language will not only improve your marketability, but also you will be more well-versed and able to communicate with people from different cultures. In fact, most of the Fortune 500 companies promote English as their business language, so it's not a bad idea to learn a foreign language if you want to succeed in your career. 2. You'll Learn New Skills According to the United States Bureau of Labor Statistics, about five to six out of 10 jobs now require at least some college education. Given that most of the jobs are technology related, those with only a high school degree may find it difficult to obtain a position that offers a decent wage. Knowing other languages and having a good command of language not only allows people to talk to others but also boosts their communication skills. The more language that you know, the more versatile you will be. This will help you land a position in a company where language is a requirement. 3. You'll Improve Your
