The Elden Ring is an action RPG based on the Hint RPG Engine and created by Idea Factory's development team of experienced RPG developers. In The Elden Ring, the true identity of the El Entities known as the Elden has been discovered: the Elden Ring. Crafted by ancient and mysterious Master Swordsmiths from the earliest age of the universe, the Elden Ring has the power to grant the warriors the strength to overcome any evil. During the Lands Between, a troubled land between the lands of Heaven and Hell, the Elden Ring's power began to weaken. As the source of the Elden Ring itself, the Sleeping Stone, was lost, the players alone have the power to save the world. 3rd June, 2010 -- Order History History Data Entry -- Informations -Versions: For information about version number, click here. -About: For information about about the game, click here. -Contents: For information about the contents, click here. -Purchase: For information about the purchase, click here. • Battle System In the action RPG ELDEN RING, you can enjoy the action-oriented, suspenseful battles of the fantasy genre. The battles will let you feel the true power and sense of fear that comes with actual battles. In addition, by choosing appropriate actions at the right timing, you can defend yourself and eliminate attacks. ■ Battle System Features - Enjoy 3D battles on the battlefields of the Lands Between. - Experience the thrill of eliminating enemies by matching your skills with theirs. - Enjoy battles where there is no confusion or overconfidence. - Experience the thrill of defeating the leader of the enemy army. - A number of times you eliminate enemy leaders, the number of times you are allowed to experience them will increase. - A leaderboard will be displayed where you can view rankings and rankings of players all over the world. - You can have full control over combat and even set the actions and timing by switching to the DEFCON mode, perfecting your skills. - The effects of the actions you take during the battle are determined by your understanding of the strengths and weaknesses of your party. - As you battle, you will level up and receive upgrades to increase your skills. Your equipment will also be upgraded to grow in strength as well. - Your magic will grow and improve as you increase your skill and number of levels. When skill and power are matched, magic will also function more smoothly. ■ Action Methods - Defensive Action - An advantage is given to the team that take advantage of this action. - You can switch your stances by assigning command points on the team members. - You can also use action points to use the action of all party members. - Use this function to send a member of your party to the defense line, use two members of your party to avoid an incoming attack, or use them to increase the defense of the group. - Attack Action - The action of a single party member or all party members. - When an enemy is in danger of an attack, you can use this action to attack the enemy with a powerful attack. - You can also use this action in a special situation like when attacking a new enemy, to test the strength of the enemy that has not been detected before. - Support Action - There are three types of support actions, with new type appearing every time you complete action. - You can use this action to protect the party members, increase their

More Information about URT from when KoeiTomyUW Playstation.Blog - Aug 26, 2006

From PlayStation.Blog Our thinking for URT is to make a role-playing game that is unexpected and amazing from beginning to end. This game features fluid and three dimensional art work that blends beautifully with the story line. The ultimate goal of developing a role-playing game is to create a strong bond between the player and the game, transcending the gameplay and freeing the player to act in any way he desires. In order to create this kind of bond, the storytelling must be grand and unfold at a fast pace, yet compelling. The Elder Scrolls made a similar statement with their fantasy RPG, Morrowind.

We want to create aRPG that will be loved from beginning to end with a fluid presentation. For example, we want to allow the player to change clothes during the game and can move smoothly from the action of sword fighting in combat, to an investigation-based stat-sorting game. We want to create an experience where the character is 100% your own, not a generic box. For example, the character will look completely different depending on which outfits he wears and how he places his armor.

We also want to give the player unlimited freedom. No two players playing the same game will have the same character. We want to support this unlimited freedom at all times through the game and allow the player to make any decision he desires in the game world. We want to think about what is important to the player and give the player control over these important things. Items that were not actionable will be made so that the player can make use of them.
