Fundamentals Of Design And Manufacturing By Gk Lal Pdf Free 655l Pages Friday, April 10, 2018 {Thrifty + Time Saver + On the Budget} Peanut Butter & Jelly Baby Basket I'm not much for kids. We'll play the "I'll be the mom" game if I can get the cards stacked in my favor, but the moment kids are involved, all I can do is squirm and feel awkward. I think I have kids more to be embarrassed about than most of the other parents in the world because it's like, "Geez, when are you gonna stop? I have a kid of my own. You're almost there." I've been asked so many times to make things for kids where I have a few things that I know are going to end up being big hits, but people just want to stick with the traditional baby shower snacks. I mean, I appreciate a good baby shower snack, but this little guy is a stress case. I want to make things that are easy and fun. Something we can do together. The other day he was playing with a white marble, eating it for breakfast with a glass of water and I said, "Hey, do you know what this is?" "Eww." "What?!" "No, I don't know what that is. Eww." "Well, it's a marble." "I know that. What does it do?" "It's a marble. It's the universe. It's the number one." "Oh, that's neat. Can I eat it?" "Yes, you can eat it." "Okay, it'll be our special food." "I think we can have that food every day." "That's fine. I like it. I'll take you for breakfast. I'll eat the mor-mar-be-el." "Good. I like it too." And that was the end of that. I could not get him to go to bed. I've had that with my daughter. Too much food is not the way to go for her. He didn't sleep that night though and I didn't send him to bed because he wouldn't shut his eyes. I'd had enough. I decided, if he wasn't going to eat the marble, I was going to use it for something else. d0c515b9f4
