Organize your bookmarks in collections

Populating the list is by far an easy task.

You merely need to access the extension on the active page, and choose to add bookmark.

This allows you to define a name, description, source for a website screenshot, and even add tags. Your bookmarks can be organized into different collections which are simply created on the spot by fitting them with a name. Otherwise your items remain either unsorted or displayed altogether. Customize the view and share with others By default, saved items are shown in a list. However, you can easily change the view mode to switch to headlines, cards, or moodboard. A slider lets you set size of thumbnails, with the possibility to include description. Multiple selection is possible and helps you share large collections of bookmarks. Sharing can easily be done through a generated link. The application supports more than just web pages as bookmarks, with options to drop pictures you want to include in your collections. Readers' Rating 4.5 62,286 total views About the Developer raindrop.io
