The STATE of Florida, Appellee. No. 75-1044. District Court of Appeal of Florida, Third District. May 26, 1976. Rehearing Denied June 30, 1976. *919 Nathan H. Haber, Steven L. Seliger, Miami, for appellant. Robert L. Shevin, Atty. Gen., and Linda C. Hertz, Asst. Atty. Gen., for appellee. Before HENDRY, C.J., and NATHAN and HAVERFIELD, JJ. PER CURIAM. James Edward Van Hooser appeals his conviction of burglary of an unoccupied structure and the resulting sentence. The evidence shows that on October 28, 1974, at 11:15 a.m., the appellant, James Van Hooser, along with his wife and several others was riding bicycles down an alleyway near the Palermo Car Club. The club was open for business at that time and had not yet closed for the day. The manager of the car club had recently closed the doors and was in the process of locking them. While the manager was attempting to lock the club he was approached by the appellant who asked him if he would open up for him the following evening. The manager declined. The next day, on October 29, 1974, the appellant returned to the car club and knocked on the door. This time the manager opened the door and the appellant asked him if he would open the door the next night. The manager declined. On the evening of October 29, 1974, the manager again refused to open the door, but gave the appellant a key to the back door. The next morning
